From Madam President

Greetings Sorors,

Congratulations to all Fayetteville State University Broncos on their Homecoming victory over Saint Augustine. Delta Xi extended a warm welcome to all sorors who joined them in their Hospitality room. FSU had perfect weather for their game day festivities beginning with the parade, which included our Miss Jabbercock and Little Miss Princess. The reigning Miss Fayetteville State University is also a former Miss Jabbercock, Jasmine Bogan.

We will attend the Cape Fear Regional Theatre's production of "Guess Who's Coming To Dinner" as part of the "Community Night" show, November 5th. Please come out and let's show our support of our Arts and Letters Committee. This will be their first Red Carpet Event for this sororal year. Not only do we want to come in support of our Arts and Letters Committee, we want to come and witness one of our very own chapter members perform in the play! Soror Sharon McNair will be part of the cast. You can check out the article in Sunday's newspaper in Sunday Life.

This month's Executive Board meeting is Tuesday, October 27th, 6:00 P.M. at the C.R.E.S.T. Building. Committee Chairs, please be there with your hard copy reports in hand. Electronic reports should have already been emailed to our Recording Secretary.

At the conclusion of the November Chapter meeting, we will have the Sweethearts and the Princesses presented to us as they introduce themselves to the chapter. Please plan to remain after the ritualistic closing for their presentation. Sorors are asked to bring canned goods and/or nonperishable items for the families who have been selected by the Adopt-A-Family Committee. Your simple act of kindness can be a blessing to someone in need.

As always, we are..
